WATER AND POWER ACT ARGUED AT C. OF C. MEET

Both Sides of Question Are Heard; J. G. Huntley Is Given Welcome Home

The two sides of the proposed water and power act were presented to the members of the Chamber of Commerce at the regular weekly noon luncheon Tuesday. John J. Hamilton spoke for twenty minutes in support of the measure, while L. G. Guernsey was allowed the same length of time to present arguments against it.

There was no decision made in the matter, the speakers merely presenting two sides. After the speaking the members were given an opportunity to ask questions regarding the act.

Ten new members were elected to membership at the meeting yesterday noon. They were: Advance Realty company, Frank C. Ayers, R. E. Corrigan, James J. Delaney, Ben F. Dupuy, Dr. Morton Egbert, Harvard Gift & Art Shop, Dr. R. C. Logan, Lusby Mortgage & Investment Company and Woodson's Kodakery.

Dr. Jessie Russell told of the tag day results for Glendale's new electric line.

"Glendale pulled together," she said. "There was no knocking, and it was a great success."

J. G. Huntley who has just returned to the city following a trip to the eastern part of the United States and Canada, attended his first meeting of the chamber since his return, and was given a royal welcome.

"Glendale is well advertised by the Chamber of Commerce," he said. He then told of finding Glendale literature at the various eastern hotels. As the result of the trip, Mr. Huntley and his family will add to the city's growth to the extent of 100, he said. Everywhere they went they spoke a good word for Glendale. They have already been responsible for one family coming to the city, he told them.

ALEX MITCHELL IS NEW LEADER OF FOOTHILL CLUB

Association Selects Officials and Holds Discussion on Civic Questions

The Foothill Improvement Association met last night in the new Grand View school and discussed matters of general interest to the northwest section of Glendale.

Alex Mitchell of 2001 Kenneth road was elected president of the association despite his protest that he expects to be away from the city a great deal of the time during the next twelve months. His election, however, was unanimous and his advance to the front of the room was marked by applause. He expressed his appreciation of the honor conferred upon him by his neighbors and called upon those present to help increase the importance of the organization in the community. He called attention to a number of civic problems.

Other Officials
E. H. Botsford of 1031 Glenwood road, retiring president, declined to accept nominations for several officers. A number of others did likewise and the election of officers was a lively event. It finally resulted in the election of the following officers: W. S. Sanderson, vice president; Mrs. M. B. Buckman, 1141 Winchester street, secretary; and G. A. Lucas of 1014 Vine street, treasurer.

Members of the board of directors are: Alex Mitchell, Dr. J. G. Grim, E. H. Learned, Mrs. C. E. Elpersman, Mrs. G. A. Lucas, Mrs. E. H. Botsford and Mrs. M. B. Buckman.

Restriction of membership in the association to definite boundary lines was the subject of considerable discussion. The executive committee decided to open membership in the organization to all residents of Glendale who are desirous of cooperating in the aims of the association.

A resolution was passed stating the fact that the Foothill Improvement Association cannot support the Federated Improvement Association in advocating a sewage district.

ORGANIZE P. T. A. AT NEW SCHOOL

Mrs. W. C. Wattles Head of First Mothers' Body at Glendale Intermediate

Glendale's newest and most enthusiastic organization, the Glendale Avenue Intermediate P. T. A., was organized Tuesday afternoon at the new school with seventy-five mothers, and the entire faculty present.

Norman Whytock, principal, greeted the assembly of mothers with a few words of cordial welcome.

Superintendent R. D. White gave a short talk on the importance of the work of the P. T. A. Mrs. Eustace B. Moore, president of the Glendale federation and Mrs. H. V. Henry, district extension chairman of the P. T. A., were installing officers. Mrs. A. S. Chase was elected temporary chairman and presided until the new officers were named.

The nominating committee composed of the following, Mrs. P. J. Prialux, Mrs. E. S. Strong, Mrs. C. G. Tuttle, Mrs. D. W. Esselman and Miss Gladys Sharpe, presented the following names for election: Mrs. W. C. Wattles, president; Mrs. A. E. Chappell, secretary; Mrs. M. C. Newton, treasurer; Mrs. C. G. Tuttle, auditor; Miss Natalie MacKay, historian.

Get Unanimous Vote
These were approved by unanimous vote. The constitution used by the P. T. A. was adopted and the regular meeting will be held the fourth Thursday of each month.

Chairmen of standing committees were appointed by the president, as follows: Mrs. E. S. Strong, membership; Mrs. C. G. Tuttle, program; Mrs. J. C. Fox, correspondence; Mrs. J. P. Prialux, philanthropy; Mrs. H. W. Bogen, publicity; Mrs. Richardson, visiting; Mrs. W. E. Halstead, finance; Mrs. Frank E. Hoyt, education, and home; Mrs. J. Sturges, thrift; Mr. Bremer, playground; Miss Gladys Sharpe, patriotism; Mrs. Randolph Bainbridge, legislation; Mrs. Richards, child-hygiene; Mrs. G. E. Dame, scholarships.

Motion was approved to present a request to join the Glendale federation of P. T. A. and the state federation. The first regular meeting will be held October 26.

R. T. W. Class Holds Afternoon of Music

Mesdames Park Arnold, M. B. Wancott and T. L. Hatch were hostesses yesterday afternoon at the meeting of the R. T. W. class.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Walter Stamps, with prayer by Mrs. Jennie Dossie, class teacher. After the business session a musical program was given by the class members.

The program included instrumental numbers by Mesdames J. Ray Bentley, M. B. Wancott and vocal numbers by Mesdames H. W. Carver, J. Ray Bentley and Paul Elliott, accompanied by Mesdames J. Ray Bentley and George Bentley.

Local Financier and Sons Form Concern To Meet Demands

Formal announcement is authorized today of the opening of the Lusby Mortgage & Investment company, Glendale's first incorporated mortgage and investment service.

The Lusby Mortgage & Investment company was incorporated under the laws of the state of California on September 20, 1922, and by its articles of incorporation may buy, sell and otherwise deal in investment securities, including notes, bonds, mortgages, trust deeds, etc. The incorporators were C. D. Lusby, until September 30, last, cashier of the Glendale State bank; W. E. Lusby, for some years associated with the National City bank of New York, and, until his recent removal to Glendale, manager of the foreign department of the First National bank, Detroit, Mich., and Dr. C. R. Lusby, well known Glendale dental surgeon.

Well Known Here
C. D. Lusby and Dr. C. R. Lusby need no introduction to Glendaleans, having made this city their home for the past eleven years.

Mrs. Lusby, senior, was for seven years cashier of the Glendale Savings bank, severing that connection several years ago to enter the real estate field. At the time of the organization of the Glendale State bank about a year ago he returned to the banking business as cashier and director of that institution. Although no longer an administrative officer, (Continued on Page 7)

Committee Outlines Plans for Its Booth

The members of the hospital-ity committee of the Tuesday Afternoon club, of which Mrs. Colin Cable is chairman, met at her home at 505 South Columbus avenue yesterday afternoon and formulated plans for the cooked food booth, which that committee is to have charge of at the club's society circus and bazaar, to be given at the Elks' clubhouse on November 18. ### La Madrid Social Club Plans Dance

Proof that the members of the La Madrid social club are not superstitious is offered in the announcement this morning that the club is to give a dance Friday night, October 13, in the Chamber of Commerce hall for the benefit of the California Home for Crippled Children in Los Angeles.

It is the aim of the club to raise $1000 for donation to the home and elaborate plans are being made for the dance. A special feature of the affair will be the presence of a group of moving picture stars, who will present prizes to the best dancers. Music for the dancing will be furnished by Brown's Syncopators Six.

DEPOT QUESTION UP FRIDAY NIGHT

Railroad Officials Promise to Be Present at Chamber of Commerce Meeting

Those interested in the proposed Southern Pacific depot for Glendale are looking forward with great hopes to the luncheon meeting, which is to be held Friday night at 6:30 o'clock in the Chamber of Commerce dining room.

The chamber committee which has been working on the proposition for the past several months has the assurance of railroad officials that they will be present and discuss the matter. Representing the city at the meeting will be the chamber committee and board of directors, members of the city council, and city officials.

"We are hoping to get some action at Friday's meeting," declares James M. Rhoades, secretary of the Glendale chamber.

George Bentley is chairman of the committee which has been working on the proposition. Other members are: George B. Karr, William Hunter, C. F. Stuart, P. J. Hayselden, E. D. Yard, H. L. Findley.

Gladys Allewelt Is Philathea Hostess

Miss Gladys Allewelt was hostess last night to members of the Philathea class of the First Methodist church, entertaining them at her home at 331 West Lexington drive. A cafeteria supper was enjoyed and was followed by a business meeting over which Miss Lois Perce, the class president, presided.

Plans were made for the year's work. The Philathea class are supporting a student at the Frances De Pauw School for Spanish Girls in Hollywood and also a Bible woman in India. During the evening the class members also planned for the Rally Day celebration October 15.

Twenty class members and their teacher, Mrs. Helen Knappen Scripps were present.

Club for Business Women Is Growing

The chief matter of business taken up at the meeting of the executive board of the Business and Professional Women's club, of which Dr. Laura Brown is president, held last night, was the accepting of the applications for membership from eleven candidates.

Plans were discussed for the Los Angeles County Federation of Business Women's clubs dinner and meeting to be held in Glendale on November 1. Mrs. Kemper Campbell of Glendale will be a speaker and among the other features planned will be vocal numbers by Mrs. Virginia Freeman.

He was arrested at his mother's home early today and brought to jail on a warrant charging him with failure to provide for his wife and child.

Squirrel Cage Chatter on Big Serious Matter

By Gene Fowler

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The presence of several score of golf enthusiasts at the gridiron, as today's world's series got underway, indicated that horse racing has come back to stay. Seldom has such excitement been here on the Forest Hills courts unless it was when the Beauvais letters were read.

As it is too late to matter much, thousands will be anxious to know how to get to the stadium, where Tex Rickard is staging this regatta of the century. What will interest the early comers most at the stadium is—or possibly are—the fish.

Kennesaw Mountain McGraw, the dictator of polo, probably will start Walker Camp in the first game. Babe Cobb is injured again and likely will appear in no more than nine games of the seven that are looked forward to by the management of Velodrome.

As the struggling group of hockey devotees began to stampede to the stadium, they were electrified by the trick shots of Al De Oro, who, with his trusty cello along over his neck, was yelling "fore." Frank Kramer, on whom the Yankee coaches, Comiskey and Ebbets, are relying to capture the motor-paced dog-eared duck, was warming up in the bull pen. He said this was necessitated by the coal shortage.

Jawn McGraw would not discuss yachting when asked for an opinion of Kemal and the situation in Thrace. He would not at all. He said: "We should fret about having no coal, when the government has all those wooden ships."

When "Pink" Huggins, coach of the Yankee varsity eight, was told that the disastrous fire had swept the Carmandale stock farm at Silver Springs, Maryland, he declared it would make a decided change in his batting order. It will have a bearing also on the game with Yale, not to mention the tussle with Upsilon and Tufts. His exact words follow:

"I guess it won't make any difference at all."

One of the heart touches connected with the series is the difficulty encountered by McGraw and Huggins in getting tickets to the great billiard classic. They spent all yesterday madly clamoring at the doors of Doyle's academy but were told they would have to stay away from the bout at Belmont park.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS
LEARNED EXCLUSIVELY THAT SENATOR LANDIS WILL BE AT THE SERIES. GENERAL HARDING COULD NOT GET AWAY AND VICE-PRESIDENT HUGHES AND CONGRESSMAN COOLIDGE ALSO ARE BUSY.

Amos Rusie won the toss and may defend the east goal, if he doesn't elect to defend the north, south or possibly the west one. His choice no doubt will be broadcast by wireless station WJZ Newark next month when there will be less trouble with static and statistics.

Looking very strange in their gray traveling regalia, the Yankees trooped out into view at 1:50, led by little Eddie Bennett, the crippled mascot. Like a good general, the worthy Mr. Huggins brought up the rear.

The game by innings follows:
First Inning
Yankees—Witt up. Ball one. Foul, strike one. Strike two. Witt out on a line drive to Stengel. Dugan up. Strike one, called. Dugan up. Groh to Kelly. Ruth up. Ruth greeted with rousing cheers. Strike one, Strike two, called. The Babe fans. The crowd yelled loudly cheering Nehf and booing Ruth.

No runs, no hits, no errors.
Giants—Bancroft up. Ball one. Bancroft out, Ward to Pipp. Groh up. Ball one. Strike one, called. Ball two, high. Foul, strike two. Groh singled, dropping a Texas leaguer in left field. He was almost trapped off first when he overran the bag. Frisch up. Foul, strike one. Frisch singled to left, Groh stopping at second. E. Meusel up. Strike one, missed. Foul tip, strike two. Ball one, low. Groh went to third and Frisch to second on a passed ball. E. Meusel out on a high fly to Schang. Young up. Ball one, low and inside. Strike one, called. Strike two, missed. Ball two, outside. Young out, on a high fly to Pipp. The Yank fans made a noise demonstration as the Huggins pulled out of a tight hole.

No runs, two hits, no errors, two left on bases.
Second Inning
Yankees—Pipp up. Strike one, called. Ball one, wide. Pipp out to Kelly, unassisted. R. Meusel up. Strike one, swung. Strike two, swung. Both out. Curves. Ball one, high. Strike three, he swung. He's out. Schang up. Strike one, called. Ball one, close. Ball two, low. Strike two, called. Schang singled to left for the Yanks' first hit. Ward up. Strike one, called. Bancroft to Kelly. Yankees—Scott up. Strike one, called. Scott out on a fly to Groh. Bush up. Ball one, low and inside. Bush out, on a fly to Bancroft, who brought the fans to their feet cheering with sensational catch while running toward left field. Witt up. Ball one, outside. Strike one, called. Ball two, outside. Strike two, called. Witt out, Frisch to Kelly on an easy roller.

No runs, no hits, no errors.
Giants—Bancroft who had made the most sensational play of the game when he speared Bush's drive back of third while running at full speed.

Strike two, called. Strike one, called. One strike, missed. Strike two, called. Ball one, low. Nehf out on a grounder to Pipp, unassisted. Bancroft up. He got another great ovation as he walked to the plate. Ball one, high. Ball two, outside. Strike one, called. Strike two, called. Bancroft out, Ward to Pipp on an easy roller. Groh up. Strike one, called. Ball one, low. Groh tripled to the left field fence. Frisch up. Foul tip, strike one. Frisch out on a high fly to Ward.

No runs, one hit, no errors, none left on bases.

HUGE CROWD ATTENDS FIRST OF WORLD SERIES GAMES; BUSH AND NEHF OPEN UP ON FIRING LINE

Perfect Weather Prevails; Every Seat in Stands Occupied By Fans; Denial Hugh M'Quillan Injured Enough To Be Taken from Game

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The Giants defeated the Yanks today in the first game of the world series by the score of 3 to 2. Thirty-eight thousand, two hundred souls, in festive mood, hardly in keeping with the more or less conventional character of the occasion, watched the New York Giants and the New York Yanks meet in the opening game of the second all-Manhattan world series today. It was a capacity crowd filling every seat in the huge wood saucer, and for some reason, an extremely happy one in spite of the fact that many of those in the bleachers and unreserved sections spent the night outside the gates.

The gates were thrown open at 10 o'clock and a crowd of more than 5000 otherwise normal citizens rushed the choice seats in the unreserved sections. Steadily then like the columns of a marching army came the remainder of the crowd, quickly closing up the early gaps in the stands.

It was a jovial gathering, immediately taking contrast to last year's glum audience. Just as though the inter-city factor was paramount, they toted cow bells and whistles, prepared to use both indiscriminately.

By noon there was not a seat left in either of the stands. The newer grandstand and boxes were sold out days ago. This was New York's mute reply to the assertion that it would not rise to another private world's series.

Fortunately, for those who waited in the dim, cold shadows of the night to see the dawn and later sit through tedious hours waiting for action, the weather was most kind. It was neither warm nor chill, merely pleasant with a light breeze and a moderate sun. Runners were plenty while the players dressed methodically in front of their open lockers. One had Babe Ruth going into permanent retirement directly after the series. Strange to relate, neither Mr. Ruth nor Mr. Huggins could throw any light on the matter. It was strictly news to them.

The report that Hugh McQuillan was out of the series with an injured leg as a result of being hit by a batted ball yesterday also was denied. Jim Tierney, the Giants' secretary, did the denying and did it very pleasantly since McQuillan was one of the first players to appear when the Giants edged their way on to the field from the center field gate.

But Them About
The Giants came on at a leisurely gait, and Nick Altrock and Al Schacht, the major league funny men, who had been entertaining the villagers, retreated at their approach. There was nothing flurried or hurried about the Giants.

The Giants grabbed their bats without loss of time and with Dolan serving them up, proceeded to line a few drives to various sections of the outfield. Irish Meusel nearly ruined a spectator in the lower stands with a murderous slam beyond the right field barrier on his first appearance at the plate. Ross Young and Frank Frisch also met the ball with much enthusiasm.

Looking very strange in their gray traveling regalia, the Yankees trooped out into view at 1:50, led by little Eddie Bennett, the crippled mascot. Like a good general, the worthy Mr. Huggins brought up the rear.

The game by innings follows:

Arguments for and Against Measure Are Heard at C. of C. Luncheon regarding the hosting while on the trip.

A meeting of the committee having the subject of the proposed Southern Pacific depot in charge will meet with officials of the railroad next Friday, according to President V. M. Hollister of the chamber.

Bonus Campaign Successful
P. J. Hayselden spoke briefly on the results of the bonus campaign for the electrification of Glendale avenue. He stated that the intensive part of the campaign is now over.

"I believe the proposition is going over," he told them. A report is to be made at the meeting next Tuesday, he stated.

George B. Karr told the gathering of the Kiwanis and Rotary outing to be held this Saturday for the benefit of the Verdugo hills district Boy Scout council. The event is to be held at Park avenue and San Fernando road, and is to start at 2 o'clock, it is announced.

A three inning ball game between the Kiwanis and Rotary, contests, stunts, and a ball game between the Merchants and another industrial team from Los Angeles. Tickets are selling for 50 cents and the entire proceeds will go toward the Boy Scout budget, it is announced. The expenses of the affair will be paid by the clubs.

Mr. Hamilton Speaks
John J. Hamilton was the first speaker in regard to the water and power act. He declared that the people can borrow money at five per cent or less and the privately owned power companies would have to pay seven or eight per cent to borrow money with which to develop the natural resources of the state. He said:

"If private corporations borrow and operate the power resources, they will not do it for the general good of the people, but for profit."

He then declared if the private companies were given a fifty-year lease the people would have to buy the companies back at an enormous rate if they didn't renew the lease, because of the fact that it would cost private companies more to put the proposition over.

Several instances were cited where a lower rate has resulted from public ownership. Mr. Hamilton maintains that public ownership and operation is successful.

"During the war railroads were operated by the government for a particular purpose. It has been said that they fell down, but the government was successful in doing what it started out to do and that was to move the troops."

Parcel Post Successful
The parcel post was also cited as an example of public ownership as compared with the express companies of years ago. The people of the state would have a check on the men who would spend the proposed $500,000,000 that the act calls for, he declared.

In closing he presented the following reasons why the people of the state should develop the resources themselves: "We will own the improvements; we can lower existing rates of private companies; the people will add to the property as time goes on, and there will be prosperity greater than any community in the world."

L. G. Guernsey represented the People's Economic League and spoke against the act. He declared that he was opposed to public ownership because the political methods are not efficient enough yet. He declared that it meant the destruction of the hydro-electric corporations of the state and was the purpose of the act.

No Check On Men
He also stated that he was not in favor of entrusting the $500,000,000 dollars to the five men appointed by the governor, declaring that there would be no check on them.

He declared that according to government records the rates are less under private ownership than under public ownership, and that service is also more efficient.

It was pointed out that the only control over the men who would handle the people's money would be the state legislature which meets every two years, therefore, they could not be recalled until the legislature met. He said:

"The measure is a dream," he declared. "California now has the cheapest power in the union and is the model of America and the world."

"I take my hat off to the successful corporation."

"The $500,000,000 would be a mere entering wedge and the commission will play politics."

Covering Losses
It was stated that the act calls for the covering of losses in two ways—that of issuing additional bonds to pay the principal and interest on the original issue, and an annual appropriation from the state treasury to make up any deficiency. The taxes would have to raise enough to put the money back in the treasury, according to the act.

"Our present taxes are the highest in the Union," stated Mr. Guernsey in concluding his talk.

Following the talk by Mr. Guernsey the members were given a few minutes which to ask questions. Several members availed themselves of the opportunity, and the meeting adjourned.

COMMENT THAT'S ALL

Anaheim Sets Example Thoughts From Tujunga That One Word 'Obey' N. Y. and Sunny Cal.

By Gil A. Cowan

GLENDALE should send a delegation to Anaheim and find out how they do things there, for there is a little city that is setting a pace for Southern California today.

Visit Anaheim late at night and you will find as many cars parked in the business streets as there are here at noonday. Surely there must be some reason.

Someone remarks that it took the Orange county boom town forty-nine years to get going, but it ought not to take the same length of time to find out why. If it's oil, let Glendale get a few oil wells like Long Beach, and provide a permanent income for the schools of the city. Such a situation would solve the problem of perpetual bond issues, maybe.

Wallace Morgan, editor of the Tujunga Record, says some pretty good things in his little paper each week. Here is one of his current thoughts:

"Some day, when we wake up in the morning feeling sore and vindictive and grouchy against the entire world, we are going to write an editorial on 'Talk, the Enemy of Accomplishment.' We are going to wait until we feel like that, because nobody could think of the scathing, scorching, vituperative language necessary to do justice to the subject unless he happened to be feeling poisonously mean."

"And if the editor of the Record ever absorbs this requisite venom into his naturally sunny soul, it will be after he has attended a meeting of some civic organization and has seen the hours consumed with irrelevant talk that led to nothing."

"This old world was never more in need of clear-headed thinking and prompt, effective acting in world affairs, national affairs, state affairs, county affairs, local affairs—all along the line. But all along the line the customary practice seems to be to hold a meeting and hear a lot of people talk. Generally the first meeting only pretends to open up the subject, and an adjournment is taken to a later date for further talk. And, whether there is one such adjournment or forty of them, the net result usually is the same. Before the talking is all done, everybody is tired of the subject and wants to get away and forget about it."

"We are not going to write any more about it now—perhaps we never shall—but the next time you attend a public meeting just notice for yourself how much energy that ought to be devoted to doing something gets consumed in making a noise or listening to it."

From the Pasadena Star-News I get this comment, in which most people will agree:

"The word 'obey,' said by the bride in the marriage ceremony, should be stricken out, according to the attitude assumed by bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church. It is significant that elimination of this word, and also of the pledge of the bridegroom—'with all my worldly goods I thee endow'—is receiving serious attention by church bodies, and by those who have the good of the marriage relation at heart."

"There is good reason, it would seem, for striking out these obsolete pledges. It is so well known as to be a standing joke that brides today do not 'obey' their husbands, and he is a bold husband who demands or expects such obedience. And as to the endowment of the bride with all the worldly goods of the bridegroom, this, too, is offset, by the very law itself. It is exceptional where the husband makes such sweeping endowment."

"If the marriage relation has outgrown these things, as appears obvious, why not recast the bridal pledges and bring them down to date, making each and every promise taken at the altar more impressive by making all such pledges sincere?"

Just imagine you were in New York today, attending the world series ball games! Just imagine how homesick you would be for the land of the golden west!

Just imagine you had to sleep in the smoke of the fourteenth to forty-fourth story of a Gotham hotel! Just imagine how a tent would seem like paradise to you, if located in a Glendale garden!

Just let your imagination write the rest of this comment!

Words fail me in expressing the pleasure of living in Sunny Southern California.

Fish Was So Tough Fishermen Lost It

PLYMOUTH, Mass.—Jonah and the well known whale had nothing on Harry Sloane and Jacob Snyder, during a fishing trip they took in the bay here.

The two men declare they met a fish at least eight feet long, which had a hide so tough that it could not be pierced with an axe, a gaffhook, or with bullets from a revolver, all of which they tried. They declared that the inside of the creature's mouth was so scaly that hooks and gaffs made no impression, but slipped off as though they had struck a sheet of steel.

The fish, according to a description given by the two men, was gray on the back and white underneath and weighed at least sixty pounds, they said. Furthermore, it had no tail. The fish got away.

The MUCKER

by Edgar Rice Burroughs

Copyright 1921 by Edgar Rice Burroughs.

Billy hated everything that was respectable. He had hated the staid, self-satisfied merchants of Grand Avenue. He had writhed in torture at sight of every shiny, purring automobile that had ever passed him with its load of well-groomed men and women. A clean, stiff collar was to Billy a red rag to a bull. Cleanliness, success, opulence, decency, spelled but one thing to Billy—physical weakness; and he hated physical weakness. His idea of indicating strength and manliness lay in displaying as much of brutality and uncleanliness as possible. To assist a woman over a mud hole would have seemed to Billy an acknowledgment of pusillanimity—to stick out his foot and trip her so that she sprawled full-length in it, the hall-mark of bluff manliness. And so he hated, with all the strength of a strong man, the immaculate, courteous, well-bred man who paced the deck each day smoking a fragrant cigar after his meals.

Inwardly he wondered what the dude was doing on board such a vessel as the Halfmoon, and marvelled that so weak a thing dared venture among real men. Billy's contempt caused him to notice the passenger more than he would have been ready to admit. He saw that the man's face was handsome, but there was an unpleasant shiftness to his brown eyes; and then, entirely outside of his former reasons for hating him, Billy came to loathe him intuitively, as one who was not to be trusted. Finally his dislike for the man became an obsession. He haunted, when discipline permitted, that part of the vessel where he would be most likely to encounter the object of his wrath, hoping, always hoping, that the "dude" would give him some slight pretext for "pushing in his mush," as Billy would so picturesquely have worded it.

He was loitering about the deck for this purpose one evening when he overheard part of a low-voiced conversation between the object of his wrath and Skipper Simms—just enough to set him wondering what was doing, and to show him that whatever it might be it was crooked and that the immaculate passenger and Skipper Simms were both "in on it."

He questioned "Bony" Sawyer, and "Red" Sanders, but neither had nearly as much information as Billy himself, and so the Halfmoon came to Honolulu and lay at anchor some hundred yards from a stanch, trim, white yacht, and none knew, other than the Halfmoon's officers and her single passenger, the real mission of the harmless-looking little brigantine.

CHAPTER III
The Conspiracy
No shore leave was granted the crew of the Halfmoon while the vessel lay off Honolulu, and deep and ominous were the grumblings of the men. Only First Officer Ward and the second mate went ashore. Skipper Simms kept the men busy painting and holystoning as a vent for their pent emotions.

Billy Byrne noticed that the passenger had abandoned his day-long strolls on deck. In fact he never once left his cabin while the Halfmoon lay at anchor until darkness had fallen; then he would come on deck, often standing for an hour at a time with eyes fastened steadily upon the brave little yacht from the canopied upper deck of which gay laughter and soft music came floating across the still water.

When Mr. Ward and the second mate came to shore a strange thing happened. They entered a third-rate hotel near the waterfront, engaged a room for a week, paid in advance, were in their room for half an hour and emerged in civilian raiment. Then they hastened to another hostelry—a first-class one this time, and the second mate walked ahead in frock coat and silk hat while Mr. Ward trailed behind in a neat, blue serge suit, carrying both bags.

At the second hotel the second mate registered as Henri Thierie, Count de Cadenet, and servant, France. His first act thereafter was to hand a note to the clerk asking that it be dispatched immediately. The note was addressed to Anthony Harding, Esq., On Board Yacht Lotus.

Count de Cadenet and his servant repaired immediately to the count's rooms, there to await an answer to the note. Henri Thierie, the second officer of the Halfmoon, in frock coat and silk hat looked every inch a nobleman and a gentleman. What his past had been only he knew, but his polished manners, his knowledge of navigation and seamanship, and his leaning toward the ways of the martinet in his dealings with the men beneath him had led Skipper Simms to assume that he had once held a commission in the French navy, from which he doubtless had been kicked—in disgrace.

The man was cold, cruel, of a moody disposition, and quick to anger. He had been signed as second officer for this cruise through the intervention of Divine and Clinker. He had sailed with Simms before, but the skipper had found him too hard a customer to deal with, and had been on the point of seeking another second when Divine and Clinker discovered him on board the Halfmoon and after ten minutes' conversation with him found that he fitted so perfectly into their scheme of action that they would not hear of Simms releasing him.

SOMETHING WRONG
The next arrival had just passed beyond the nearby gates and was gazing around curiously. Suddenly his face grew pale.

PUBLIC PAYING INDUSTRIAL WAR COST, DECLARES WRITER

Bill For Strikes Must Be Liquidated Now By Consumers; Coal at Root of Burden

By W. H. ATKINS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—The public's pocketbook nerve—most sensitive of all nerves in the body politic—is now feeling the effect of industrial war losses. These losses are huge. The public has begun liquidating the bill for the frays between capital and labor by paying higher prices on some of the chief necessities of life. Higher prices on articles that are indispensable in the households of the land may go through the entire winter and into next spring because of this year's periodical labor scrap.

High cost of coal will be at the root of most of the financial burdens of the people. Everything that industry manufactures will take on an added cost, because the overhead charges of operation are thereby increased.

Only the coal barons will derive comfort from this new era of inflation. State price control, now relied upon by the federal government to hold prices of fuel in check, can be at best only a partial success in restraining extortion. The coal operators figure to win in any event. It is no secret that they have laid their plans to double their normal profits on all coal sold this winter. In the end they will lose nothing by the long tie-up in the mines.

First results of the industrial war which has embroiled both railroad and coal industries was recession in commercial and industrial activity. Industrial activity slowed down considerably because of scarcity of coal supplies. The difficulties of transportation have also been a retarding factor to business. As winter approaches these troubles probably will become aggravated. Along with this slackening of industry there is a sudden shortage of some commodities and a sudden advance in prices. Official figures show the most notable increases in prices have occurred in coal, animal products, cotton and sugar. The increases have been general in the wholesale and retail trade. When mid-winter comes, four months hence, the country may witness not only high prices but widespread suffering, especially among the poor unable to pay exorbitant prices for fuel needed to keep them warm. None of the responsible officials of the government, studying the coal situation, can see far enough ahead to predict that the country will escape a period of great distress during the cold months.

One thing is certain and that is the country is so far behind in its coal supply that the mines even at top speed operation cannot mine enough coal to supply the needs of the people. It will be a hand-to-mouth supply for all consumers. And it will be obtainable only at famine prices. The millions of poor people it now seems certain are doomed to go through freezing weather in thousands of cities and towns without fuel.

INSTRUCTOR U. S. AIR SERVICE

ELECTRICAL CURRENT

The current flowing in a circuit is no stronger at one point of the circuit than at another. This can be proved by connecting a measuring instrument called an ammeter into the circuit at different points and making comparative readings. It will be found to register the same at whatever point this test is made. A useful illustration of the electric circuit is a closed circuit of pipe completely filled with water, and provided with a pump or some other device for causing the water to circulate. The amount of water which leaves a given point in each second is just the same as the amount which arrives in the same length of time. Now in the electric circuit we have no material fluid, but we suppose that there exists a substance which we call electricity. Electricity behaves in a circuit much like an incompressible fluid in a pipe line. We are very sure that electricity is not like any material substance that we know, but the common practice among workers in the electrical field of calling it "juice" shows that they think of it analogously as a fluid. We will, then, imagine the electric current to be a stream of electricity flowing around the circuit.

One way of measuring the rapidity with which water is flowing, is to let it pass through a meter which registers the total number of gallons or quarts which passes through. By dividing the quantity by the time it has taken to flow or pass, we may obtain the rapidity of the flow. There are instruments by which it is possible to measure the total quantity of electricity which passes in a circuit during a certain time. If we divide this quantity by the time, we obtain the amount of electricity which has passed in one second. This is a measure of the current strength.

In practice, however, the strength of the current is measured by instruments known as ammeters, which shows at any moment how strong the current is. It also enables us to note, at a glance, what changes take place from moment to moment. We may also, by means of an instrument known as an ampere-hour meter, ascertain the amount of energy that has passed over the circuit. These two recording instruments would therefore correspond to the speedometer of an automobile where, on one dial, is recording the number of miles the auto is speeding, and on a second dial the total number of miles the car has traveled.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY AND SUSIE'S CABBAGE

Susie Littletail, the jolly rabbit girl, hopped out of her house and started across the field, stopping now and then to nibble a bit of clover.

"Oh, Susie!" called her mother, standing on the rear porch. "Oh, Susie-girl!"

"Yes, Mother! What is it?" answered Susie.

"Please go to the store and get me a large head of cabbage!" requested the rabbit lady. "I want to make your father a cabbage pie for his supper. Get a large head, Susie."

"Yes'm, Mother, I will," she answered, and then she hopped on again, not eating so many clover leaves, for she had had all she wanted. "I hope nothing happens to me, such as happened to Sammured Susie, as she tried to lift it. I'm afraid it's too heavy for me, Uncle Wiggily."

"If it is I'll help you," offered the bunny gentleman. "But try once more, Susie. Don't give up after the first try."

So Susie tried again, and she found she could lift the cabbage. It was not easy, but Susie wasn't going to give up, even if the cabbage should burst out of the bag.

"I'll help Susie if it gets too heavy for her," thought Uncle Wiggily, as he hopped along beside Susie, who carried the cabbage.

It was all right along the level places, where there were no hills. But when Susie started up hill with the cabbage, she began to puff and to grunt and her little pink nose twinkled so fast that Uncle Wiggily said:

"I'll help you, Susie. You are very brave, not to give up, but don't make your paws too tired. I'll help you up the hill."

Susie was glad of this, for she was tired, though she had made up her mind not to say so. Finally the top of the hill was reached. The other side went down, which is the way of all hills, you know. And as Susie looked at the long slope, down which she had coasted many times in the winter, Susie said:

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily! I'm afraid!"

"Afraid of what?" asked the bunny rabbit.

"Well," spoke Susie. "You know how hard it was to get the cabbage up hill. Now, if it starts to roll down hill I never could stop it, and it will roll away with me, and I'll roll down too!"

"Perhaps not," said Uncle Wiggily. "Now think a bit, Susie, and perhaps you can puzzle out a way to get the cabbage down hill without carrying it yourself. If you could do that then it would not run away and pull you with it. Think, Susie!"

Susie thought and thought and thought of a way to get the cabbage down hill, without carrying it herself.

"Do you mean to let you do it?" she asked Uncle Wiggily.

"No!" chuckled the bunny uncle. "Try again!"

"Oh, I know!" suddenly cried Susie. "You mean to let the cabbage roll down hill all by itself, and when it gets through rolling at the bottom, I can pick it up and carry it again!"

"Exactly! Yes!" cried Uncle Wiggily.

Susie wrapped the cabbage well in the bag and gave it a little push. Down the hill it went as nicely as you please, faster and faster, going bumpity-bump.

And half way down the hill the Bob Cat rushed out, thinking the cabbage was Uncle Wiggily rolling down hill. But it wasn't—it was the cabbage. And the cabbage hit the Bob Cat on his nose and made him cry: "Wouchie! Ouchie! Wow!"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Susie. Then she ran to the bottom of the hill, picked up the cabbage and carried it home. And Mrs. Littletail made cabbage pie and gave Uncle Wiggily some.

And if the automobile tire does not turn a somersault and make the car run up the hill backward, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Billie's tumble.

DUTY

The duty of a retail lumber yard does not consist only in selling lumber. To consider carefully the individual requirements of each customer, to recommend only those materials which satisfactorily fill those requirements. To conscientiously advise our customers on the various building problems that may arise.

In addition to the above the use of our complete filing system is available, by means of which the prospective builder can get in touch with contractors, carpenters, builders, plasterers and cement workers. These are functions which this firm considers its elementary duties.

Betty Ellen Shop Gains Popularity

MRS. E. JORALEMON

One of Glendale's well-known business women. She conducts, with Miss B. Suderstrom, the Betty Ellen shop.

Sharing in Glendale's business life with the business men are a group of successful business women and there are none more successful than Mrs. E. Joralemon, who with Miss B. Suderstrom conducts the Betty Ellen shop at 215 South Brand boulevard.

A better sketch of the owners of the Betty Ellen shop can not be had than a description of the shop itself, for the ability, cleverness and originality of the proprietors are seen in every department.

Mrs. Joralemon has had wide experience in choosing materials and in gown building and fitting, all of which qualifies her admirably for becoming part owner of an exclusive shop for women.

Her associate, Miss Suderstrom, is a professional buyer, having been connected during the past several years with some of the largest ready-to-wear stores in the middle-west, and on the Pacific coast. In her connection with these stores Miss Suderstrom has spent six months of each year in New York City buying and this experience has given her a training and background that is impossible to surpass.

Miss Suderstrom has been employed as buyer by J. S. Graham of Seattle, H. Liebes and Company of Portland, A. T. Lewis, Denver; Harris-Emery Company, Des Moines, and Harned Von Maur, Davenport, Iowa.

One of the features of the Betty Ellen shop is a studio room where there is displayed the art work of Mrs. Edith Furbeck.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

WHAT NO ONE CAN KNOW

No human being can possibly know another's strength.

How often we forget that fact! How often we say,—"or at least, think—that if people about us would make the effort we make they could do a great deal more than they do."

Who knows but what they are making a far greater effort than we have ever made to accomplish what little they may be accomplishing.

There used to live in our neighborhood a woman who wanted a great deal of sleep. It was a neighborhood joke that if you called Ann up she was sure to be taking a nap, or just about to take one. And yet she went to bed early. Her more energetic neighbors said it was all nonsense, that she was lazy, that if she wouldn't give in to her feelings she could work as hard as anyone.

She tried to be like them. Ann herself finally became very sensitive on the subject and tried to mold herself on her energetic healthy neighbors, but in vain. "I get so tired that I could cry when I don't get a lot of sleep," she told me.

A few days ago I heard that Ann was dead.

She had had to have an operation, not such a severe operation. Ninety per cent of those who undergo it live. But Ann couldn't seem to rally. "She had no reserve strength," said the doctor. "She must have always lived from hand to mouth, just enough for the day and no more. Some people are like that."

And worse still.

And just to think that we had sometimes suspected her of laziness.

And, worse still, let her know it.

You cannot judge others by yourself, you cannot judge yourself by others.

Each man or woman knows his strength.

After All We Don't Have To

Of course there are plenty of lazy people in the world, plenty of people who give in weakly to their feelings instead of rising above them, but it is not possible for anyone with merely mortal means of judging to say who they are. Nor, when you come to think of it, is it necessary.

What is it Stevenson says: "One man I have to make good, myself. My duty to my neighbor is much more nearly expressed by saying I have to make him happy, if I can." (I quote from memory and under correction, but I know I have the spirit of the thing.)

One person you have to keep up to the mark in the matter of avoiding laziness—yourself. Your duty to your neighbor is to let him use his own judgment and his own conscience.

Actress Takes Post Graduate Course in Lobster Salad; Noted Chef Explains How

Pierre very graciously consented to tell his most cherished culinary secret to Miss Carlisle, now starring in "Fools Errand" at the Maxie Elliott theatre, New York, and supplemented it by personal instructions in all the fine points of concocting lobster salad. Under such expert tutelage the well known star of the stage has become an equally famous star in salad preparation. Even the best informed connoisseurs have declared that they cannot distinguish between Miss Carlisle's art and that of her famous teacher.

The basic factors in this salad are lettuce, small celery stalks, and lobster. The decorations are carried out with eggs, scallops and capers, and the crowning glory is the mayonnaise dressing.

The apt student in this case has worked out a recipe for a mayonnaise dressing which is quickly, easily, and successfully prepared. A cup of vegetable fat is very slightly heated and beaten to a cream. This is particularly easy to digest because vegetable fats have a melting point which is nearer the temperature of the body than animal fats. The yolks of two eggs, beaten light, are then gradually worked into the fat cream. The seasoning, which consists of a teaspoon of mustard, a teaspoon of salt, one quarter teaspoon of paprika, one quarter teaspoon of pepper, and four tablespoons of vinegar, is added. The vinegar should be added drop by drop while the dressing is stirred vigorously.

Practical Housekeeping by Florence Austin Chase

CHILDREN'S FOOD

In spite of all that has been said and written in regard to how large a part proper foods play in the correct growth and development of children, many mothers allow their children to pick and choose their foods according to their own fancy. Bad habits of eating are readily acquired but difficult to break. Children who are allowed to have their own way in matters of eating are very likely to be badly trained in other respects, while those who have been properly trained in their eating can easily be trained to do anything else that is important.

To prevent malnutrition children need "wholesome food." It is surprising to find so many mothers who are at a loss to know how to prepare menus for their children, which shall include the foods essential for growth and health. Adults need food for fuel, for energy and to supply the waste of the body; children need, in addition, food for growth. Besides this, there are many articles of food which are useful for adults which are too indigestible to be given to children.

Wholesome foods for children include: (1) Good pure whole milk. (2) Butter. (3) Fresh cottage cheese may be eaten upon stale bread of three or four days old. (4) Eggs—Fresh and only slightly cooked. Fried eggs should not be given to young children. (5) Meats—Breakfast bacon may be given to healthy children of four or five. Meats are best broiled or roasted, but should not be fried. Most meats should be rare, and for very young children scraped or finely divided. (6) Vegetables—They should be as young and fresh as possible, cooked until tender and for children up to the age of three years they should be rubbed through a fine sieve. For those up to seven or eight they should be thoroughly mashed. (7) Cereals—Cereals for children should be thoroughly cooked. Oatmeal and the like should be cooked in double boiler or in the fireless cooker for three or four hours. (8) Broths and soups—The broths made with beef, mutton or chicken are valuable, while the vegetable purees may be used for children over five years. (9) Bread, crackers and cake, stale bread cut thin and dried in the oven is useful; also zwieback. Fresh bread should never be given young children, neither buckwheat nor other griddle cakes. (10) Fruits—Children up to five years should be given only cooked fruits and the juices of fresh fruits. Fruits should be given with the meals, not between meals. (11) Pure drinking water. The free drinking of water is to be encouraged with all the children. Usually they do not take enough for the best working of the functions of the body. Water should not be drunk during the meal, but rather at the beginning and end of the meal. (12) Cocoa or chocolate, made with plenty of milk, may be given once a day to children of seven or eight years, particularly in the cold season. Tea and coffee should not be given to children. They are stimulants for adults, not foods for children.

No sweet cakes with icings and heavy with fruit should be given children. Plain cake, without icing, plain cookies, sponge cake, and ginger cookies are about as wise as it is to go with children up to seven or eight years old.

Up to seven or eight years all pies, tarts and pastry of every description, jams, marmalades and preserved fruits should be forbidden.

Up to seven or eight years only junket, plain rice, cornstarch or farina, pudding without raisins, baked custard and not more than once a week a moderate amount of ice cream or fruit ice.

Diet and Health By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

ACNE—PART II.

Acne is one of the most common of the skin disorders. It is especially prevalent at puberty and adolescence. As I told you yesterday, I have had many despairing letters from boys and girls telling of their depression and how they cry over their disfigurement when no one is around. It makes me unhappy to read them, they are so pathetic.

Now, you boys and girls who have written me, I shall address myself directly to you. I am going to make you happy right from the start when I tell you that your troubles are entirely remediable if properly managed. But, my dear, you have got to exercise a great deal of will-power and patience yourself. I know you will do that.

In the first place, I am going to ask you to give up all candy and rich desserts and all greasy and fried foods. And if you are a heavy white bread eater, I am going to ask you to stop eating so much of that also. It is better to take whole wheat bread. The candy and sweets, I know, are going to be the hardest things to give up.

Improper diet, while it may not directly cause your acne, is most active in aggravating it. You will find an immediate improvement as soon as you begin to eliminate from your diet these things I have mentioned. Thorough mastication is very important.

You must have a good bowel movement every day, so you must eat plenty of green vegetables and fruits and some cereal bran if necessary. You are growing, so you should have the equivalent of a quart of milk a day. You can take it as a drink or in simple custards, cream soups, etcetera.

It occasionally happens that milk seems to aggravate acne. But I believe that in those cases it is due to overheating rather than to the milk, and cutting out sweets and excess starch will lower the diet sufficiently to allow milk. Milk is the most important growth food, and you must satisfy your growth needs. No tea, coffee nor tobacco allowed.

Anything that you are doing

BEAUTY CHATS

EDNA KENT FORBES

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR

There is one beauty question that is always coming up—"What can I do to be rid of superfluous hair?" It is one of the hardest questions to answer because there is only one permanent cure for this affliction, and that is only possible to women living in large cities. That is the electric needle treatment, which is costly and tedious. I know of no other treatment.

I have given you the general things you must do, and now I shall tell you as much as I can today of the accepted methods of local treatment. Later, I shall tell you more. If it is possible, you should put yourself under the care of a skin specialist, for your condition sometimes requires special and careful treatment, possibly the X-ray.

The objects of the local treatment are to open up the pustules to free them from pus, to stimulate the skin to a more healthful action, and to prevent further infection of the sebaceous glands by the extraction of all the blackheads which plug them up and permit the multiplication of the acne germs. A comedone extractor—they are inexpensive—should be purchased.

As I told you yesterday, sometimes the pimples can be prevented from forming pus by painting them two or three times a day with a solution made of equal parts of camphor gum and carbolic acid.

Before extracting the blackheads the face should be thoroughly softened by bathing it with real hot water and a small towel from 10 minutes to a half hour. After the thorough softening of the face the blackheads should be squeezed out gently and the pustules opened. Now must come the treatment to prevent the reinfection of the germs from the pus.

This consists in a thorough scrubbing with soap and hot water. Some skin specialists recommend tincture of green soap and others common laundry soap. The laundry soap should not be used too frequently. A soothing ointment can be applied after this treatment. The ordinary sulphur ointment is considered as good as any.

After a day or two of this treatment the skin will peel off and will have been decidedly stimulated. Some authorities believe that a thorough massage given after the hot water and before the treatment is beneficial.

Will you let me know if you succeed?

Tomorrow—Answers to Correspondents (Copyright 1922 George Matthew Adams)

Can you use tweezers?

ment which I am convinced is permanent, though I know of many for which that claim is made.

If you think the superfluous hairs on your face are really a disfigurement, and if you can go to a really good electric needle specialist, by all means do so. The most up-to-date method is the multiple needle process which claims to remove about fifty hairs an hour, of which only about 10 per cent come back to require a second treatment. The single needle process is really almost too slow to bother with. If you cannot

ELECTRICITY USE INCREASES

The use of electricity is increasing everywhere, according to the United States geological survey report for May. Forty-two and eight-tenths per cent of all power generated was by water as compared with 35.2 per cent in January, 1922. The consumption increase for the month was 2.1 per cent.

The New Way To Save

Refinish the Old Things in Your Attic

MANY a fine piece of furniture is discarded when it is old only on the outside. If refinished it would be as good as new.

You can refinish furniture, woodwork and floors as well as anyone. You'll enjoy doing it, too. The work is fascinating and the cost next to nothing.

For 73 years we have been making special paints, varnishes, enamels and stains for you to use. They are the best products of their kind that we know. They make refinishing easy and successful.

Of course there are a few simple directions that you must follow, but we have organized a "Home Service Paint Department" to help you. Just write his department, telling them what you want to refinish and how you want it to look when finished.

Our experts will guide you step by step through the work, explaining each detail and recommending materials, brushes, etc.

You'll find that refinishing, home things is really not work at all—just fun. Their improved appearance will astonish you.

Decorat Varnish Stains

Decorat Varnish Stains for refinishing furniture and interior woodwork. They stain and varnish in one operation. Match the color of any natural wood. Made in 8 colors.

We also make Rubber-Cement Floor Paint. All-purpose Varnishes, Silkenwhite Enamels, Washable Wall Finish, Fifteen-for-Floors Varnish, Auto Enamel, Fuller's Varnish, Floor Wax, Fuller's Hot Water Wall Finish (alkaline), Floor and Step Paint, and PIONEER WHITE LEAD.

L. A. NOSES OUT LEAGUE LEADERS

Vernon Within Half Game of Top; Danny Kramer Is Easily Winner

The Los Angeles team did its share yesterday afternoon when the league-leading Seals were nosed out in the opening game of their so-called crucial series. As Vernon was forced to spend the day resting up in Oakland, due to a series of showers, all Bill Essick's men could do was to sit quietly in the clubhouse for a half game of first place.

The game at Washington park was a nip and tuck affair from the start, the tying and winning runs being registered by the Seals in the eleventh inning. Charley Deal, who has been out of the game for several days as the result of a charley-horse, broke into the game in a most impressive manner. Pinch-hitting for Beck with the bases loaded and the tying and winning run on the bags Deal slashed out a sharp single to center that brought home the two necessary runs and also the bacon.

San Francisco started out early in the afternoon, scoring a run in the opener and another one in the second round. L. A. came back in its half of the second with a tally and repeated in the next inning, tying the score at two-all, where it stood until the eleventh inning. The Seals' final run was made as a result of Ellison's two-bagger, Seals sacrifice and a terrific single by Rhyne.

The contest was a battle of left-handers, Dumovich dealing 'em out for the Home-Brews and Courtney dishing 'em up for the visitors. The former granted the Seals but nine hits, while the Angels garnered eleven off the delivery of Courtney.

Easy Going for Kramer
Mike De Pinto, heralded as a comer in local boxing circles, showed that he was anything else last night when he put up a miserable exhibition against Danny Kramer. The latter led all the way, De Pinto apparently making no attempt to fight throughout the four rounds. Toward the end of the go the thousands of fans packed in the Hollywood arena were unanimous in their "boos" for the little Italian.

As had been expected the bout that attracted the most attention during the evening's card was the Larry Murphy and Young Farrell, which, after four rounds of strenuous mugging by both battlers, was justly called a draw. Murphy, through his pure nerve and aggressiveness, has within a few weeks become the most popular mitt artist who has appeared before Los Angeles fight fans for many moons. In matching him against Young Farrell last night it was generally expected that his inexperience would be against him and that Farrell would get the decision.

Kisses Canvas for Nine
But such was not the case—both men went after each other from the start, Murphy knocking Farrell to the canvas for the count of nine in the first round. Farrell came back strong in the second, however, and succeeded in taking the round by points. In the third Murphy again made his opponent feel groggy with a series of straight lefts, going into the final round with a slight edge. But Farrell was not to be denied, coming back as in the second and knocking Murphy to the canvas for a brief moment. This gave Farrell a draw.

The other bouts on last night's card at the Hollywood American Legion stadium resulted as follows: Gerge Rivers and Frankie Novoy slugged their way to a draw; Louie Steigmeier was outpointed with his battle with Ernest Owens, the latter scoring two knockouts during the encounter; Benny Kilroy and Johnny Webber received a draw; Paddy Coggins was knocked out in the first round of his fight with Robert Moran; Jack Morton and Scotty Deitz opened the show with a draw.

PLAN ATHLETICS FOR YOUNGSTERS

Grammar School Boys Will Have Every Opportunity for Development

Glendale youngsters take to athletics like a duck takes to water, according to A. T. Blanford, director of athletics in the grammar school system.

In order to give every boy possible a chance to play on a regular soccer team this season, most of the grammar schools will have three teams in the fifth and sixth grade division of the grammar school league. Boys will be divided according to height. Those over 4 feet 11 inches in stature will compose the senior teams; those under 4 feet 6 inches will join the junior team. Those in between will make an intermediate team.

Cerritos will not have an intermediate team and Grand View will have only a senior team. The schools which will have the three full teams will be Columbus, Broadway, Doran, Central, Colorado, Acacia, and Pacific.

Plan Three Teams
The two intermediate schools are expected to have three teams in the field for the seventh and eighth grades. The senior team will be composed of boys over 5 feet 2 inches in height; the intermediate team of those between 4 feet 9 inches and 5 feet 2 inches; and the midgets of those under 4 feet 9 inches.

Girls at the two intermediate schools will be divided into two groups for volleyball games. Seniors, those over 4 feet in height; juniors, those under 4 feet.

The schedule of games for the season has not been compiled yet.

Woodmen Boxing to Be Staged Tonight

Ralph Myers, local lightweight boxing star and a brother of Johnny Myers, well known Glendale middleweight, will appear tonight against Joe McGill of Inglewood in the main event of a fight card to be held tonight at Yeoman hall, 1500 South San Fernando road.

The affair will be staged under the auspices of the local organization of the Modern Woodmen of America and will be practically the same line-up as was originally announced for last Wednesday night. Carroll Hare, the manager of the fights, has announced that the hall at the above-named address has been remodeled and altered expressly for the benefit of the fans.

It is the plan of the M. W. A. to conduct similar high-class boxing shows on a weekly schedule throughout the winter season. Walter Dodge and Joe Fletcher, both Glendaleans, will furnish excitement for the fans in one of the preliminaries. The men are welterweights. Three additional matches will be held.

High to Play Game at Santa Barbara

Head Coach Normal C. Hayhurst of the Glendale high school football team is planning on taking twenty-five of his tanback candidates to Santa Barbara next Saturday, where a practice game will be staged between the locals and the Mission City eleven. It will be the first real test of the season for the Glendale squad, as Santa Barbara high is noted for putting out strong teams.

A large delegation of students from the local school are planning on motoring to the game.

STILLS CAUSE FIRES
Moonshiners still are responsible for not less than 25 per cent of the fires in the forests of the Pacific northwest, according to reports. These stills are usually located in inaccessible places in the woods, where the dry timber and brush will take fire from the smallest spark and get beyond control before the fire-fighting forces discover the smoke. Unmistakable evidence of moonshining has been found in the newly burned areas.

Hawaii May Obtain

Labor Shortage Aid

HONOLULU—The measure to grant labor relief to Hawaii has now a better chance of passing congress than at any other time since it was first proposed, nearly two years ago.

Walter F. Dillingham, chairman of the commission that went to Washington in the interest of his proposed legislation told the members of the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce at a recent meeting. The proposed measure provides for the importation of coolie labor from China to work on the large sugar plantations in Hawaii.

CINCINNATI, O.—Puzzled over the task of making out a telegraph money order and showing it plainly by the look on his face, Joseph Zinnach, of New York, welcomed an offer of help from a man he thought was an attendant at the local telegraph office.

"Clerk" took $222 from Zinnach and stepped behind the counter, waited there a moment and then walked out a rear door. Zinnach became suspicious at last and asked another man behind the counter about his money only to find that he had been swindled by a stranger.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Fuesler and family of 622 North Isabel street motored to Long Beach Sunday, where they were guests of relatives. Frank Chase, father of Mrs. Fuesler, who has been their guest for the past week, accompanied them to his Long Beach home. Mr. Chase has been suffering from an attack of rheumatism and did not improve in health as he expected to do in the foothill climate and is still quite unable to engage in active work.

Mrs. Robert C. Goudie, Sr., of 324 West Elk avenue and her guests Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lambrecht and son, Gordon, of Chicago, motored to Pasadena Monday for luncheon with Mrs. Jansen, an old friend formerly of Chicago. Mrs. Jansen and Mrs. Lambrecht were closely associated in Eastern Star activities in Chicago. Mrs. Lambrecht is past junior matron and also a member of the grand lodge, while Mrs. Jansen has the record of being the first member initiated into the boulevard chapter of the Chicago Eastern Star.

ALEX MITCHELL CLUB PRESIDENT

Number of Civic Questions Up for Consideration at Association Meeting

positional plant in the northwest section of the city.

Anxiety was expressed by Mr. Mitchell lest the city council should install such a plant on the additional thirteen acres adjoining the Patterson Avenue Park now offered to the community. A resolution was passed recommending that this be purchased for park purposes only.

Branch Library
A library reading room is to be established in the district as soon as housing facilities can be secured according to the report of Mrs. M. B. Buckman, chairman of a committee which visited the city council and the library board recently. Other members of this committee were Mrs. Alex Mitchell, Mrs. C. E. Elserman and O. B. Newbie.

James Conner of 1027 Glenwood road was recommended as resident police officer for the district. This matter was brought up at the request of the city administration.

A salary of $50 a year was voted to the secretary, Mrs. M. B. Buckman, upon motion of James Conner. There was some discussion as to where the money was coming from. This brought up the desirability of a membership drive.

The next meeting will be held on Friday night, October 13, in the nature of a housewarming at the Grand View school.

Glendale Personals

J. J. Davis of 240 North Louise street is spending several days at the home of his sister.

The members of the Women's Union Label League No. 400, of which Mrs. J. D. Hall is president, will be held at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow, Thursday, afternoon, October 5, in I. O. O. F. hall.

The regular meeting of St. Mark's Women's guild will be held in the guild hall of the Episcopal church, Harvard and Louise streets, tomorrow afternoon, 2:30 o'clock, with Mrs. Mortimer Baker, president, in charge.

Owing to the concert of the Glendale Music club at the high school Thursday night the rehearsal of the choir of St. Mark's Episcopal church, of which Mrs. Charles A. Parker is director, has been postponed until 7:30 o'clock Saturday night.

While playing on the gymnastic apparatus at the Columbus avenue school Monday noon, Leslie H. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Johnson of 412 West Lexington drive, had the misfortune to fall from the top of same and fracture his left arm.

The members of Glendale chapter of the W. C. T. U., Mrs. Ruby J. Smart, president, will hold their regular meeting Friday afternoon, October 6, at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. O. L. Kilborn, 217 West Lomita avenue. Rev. W. E. Edmonds will give an address. A meeting of the campaign committee for special work is scheduled to take place promptly at 2 o'clock.

Births

Mrs. M. D. Burke of 343 West Palmer avenue is the mother of a boy born this morning, Wednesday, October 4, 1922, at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

Installs Officers at Auxiliary Meeting

An interesting meeting of Auxiliary No. 7 to N. P. Banks Camp No. 22, Sons of Veterans, was held last night in American Legion Hall, with Mrs. Lulu F. Paugh, president, in charge. Mrs. Cora Dunston of Rosecrans auxiliary of Los Angeles, division inspector and installing officer, was present and installed four officers—the assistant guide, two color guards and outside guard.

The complete list of officers of the auxiliary is as follows: Mrs. Amanda Parker, past president; Mrs. Lulu F. Paugh, president; Mrs. Dora Hall, vice president; Mrs. Amanda Parker, Mrs. Cora Stuart and Mrs. Alice McGee, trustees; Mrs. Melissa Warfield, treasurer; Mrs. Martha Galer, chaplain; Mrs. Cora Stuart, patriotic instructor; Miss Audrey Hall, guide; Miss Ida Galer, assistant guide; Miss Lorna Galer and Miss Laura Cable, color guards; Mrs. Alice McGee, inside guard; Mrs. Elizabeth Green, outside guard; Mrs. Mabel Galer, press correspondent; Mrs. Gertrude Griffin, secretary; Mrs. Mabel Galer, musician; Charles F. Stuart, counselor.

After the business session the auxiliary members and Sons of Veterans met for a social hour and refreshments were served. The regular meetings of the auxiliary are held the first and third Tuesday nights of each month in the American Legion hall. Visitors from Rosecrans auxiliary of Los Angeles who were present last night included Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Wilson and Mr. Powell.

First Concert of Season by Local Music Club Will Take Place Tomorrow Night In Auditorium of Glendale Union H. S.

With the first concert of the season for the members of the Glendale Music Club to take place tomorrow night at the high school auditorium, the announcement of the appearance of Claire Forbes Crane, pianiste; John Smallman, pianist, and Julius Kranz, violinist-composer, has resulted in a large number of applications of membership, being received, according to Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president.

Claire Forbes Crane is a pupil of Carl Muck and has appeared recently with great success with the Boston Symphony orchestra and also the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra and at the Hollywood Bowl. John Smallman, who has been praised by music critics as possessing a finely resonant baritone voice, for the past few years has been conducting a Los Angeles oratorio society and recently returned from a successful tour of the east. Mr. Kranz has been making a name for himself and for Glendale, not only by his work as an artist with the violin, but by his compositions, some of which he will present at tomorrow night's concert.

The program for tomorrow night includes the following numbers:

- "Invocazione Di Orfeo".....Jacopo Peri
- "Passing By".....Purcell
- "Promesse de mon Avenir".....Masse
- (from "Le Roi de Lahore").....by John Smallman
- II.
- "Moonlight Sonata".....Beethoven by Claire Forbes Crane
- III.
- "A Recollection".....Kranz
- "A Fancy".....Kranz
- "At Twilight".....Kranz by Julius Kranz, with Gertrude Chaplain at the piano
- IV.
- "Celle que je Prefere".....Liszt by Claire Forbes Crane
- "Love Dream".....Liszt by Claire Forbes Crane
- "Rhapsody No. 10".....Liszt by Claire Forbes Crane
- Mrs. A. M. Draper, chairman of the door committee, will be in charge at the door. The ushers will be in charge of Alton Mattie of the Junior auxiliary. Admission to the concert will be only to those holding the full membership or guest coupons. The concerts are open not only to the senior club members, but also to the members of the juvenile and junior auxiliaries whose dues are paid.
- VI.
- "At Night".....Rachmaninoff
- "May Day Carol".....Deems Taylor
- "The West".....Cadman by John Smallman
- VII.
- "Love Dream".....Liszt by Claire Forbes Crane
- "Rhapsody No. 10".....Liszt by Claire Forbes Crane
- Mrs. A. M. Draper, chairman of the door committee, will be in charge at the door. The ushers will be in charge of Alton Mattie of the Junior auxiliary. Admission to the concert will be only to those holding the full membership or guest coupons. The concerts are open not only to the senior club members, but also to the members of the juvenile and junior auxiliaries whose dues are paid.

—JULIUS KRANZ

Violinist-composer, who will give his first concert since his return to Glendale, after a several years' absence in San Francisco, before the members of the Glendale Music Club at the high school auditorium Thursday night, October 5. Claire Forbes Crane, pianiste, and John Smallman, pianist, will also be included on the all-star program.

LUSBY MORTGAGE COMPANY FORMED

First Incorporated Company of Its Kind in Glendale; Open for Business

Mr. Lusby will remain as a member of the board of directors. Mr. Lusby is one of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce and has long been identified with that organization.

W. E. Lusby was for six years connected with the National City bank of New York, serving for more than two years of that period in secretarial capacity to its president, Frank A. Vanderlip, and for more than two years and a half as an assistant cashier in charge of foreign accounts and the administration of foreign branches. Mr. Lusby holds the degree of master of business administration from the graduate school of business administration of Harvard university.

Officers of Company
Dr. C. R. Lusby is one of Glendale's foremost dental surgeons, and has practiced his profession here in Glendale since his graduation from the college of dentistry of the University of Southern California in 1914. Dr. Lusby's connection with the company will in no way interfere with his professional duties.

The officers of the company are C. D. Lusby, president and treasurer; W. E. Lusby, vice president and secretary, and Dr. C. R. Lusby, vice president. The business will be quartered in the Wishart building, 233 South Brand boulevard.

In discussing the company's outlook and plans, C. D. Lusby says: "Those of us who have watched the steady march of progress in Southern California and in Glendale in particular are convinced beyond any question of doubt that there are great things ahead, that we can look forward with confidence to a continued and well digested growth in population and business for some years to come. The recovery of the country as a whole from the depression of the past few years will, in our opinion, do much to promote the development of the great Pacific southwest. Bank clearings and building permits issued continue to eclipse all records of previous years.

"Southern California still continues its magic spell over our friends in the states to the east of us, and we who live here can understand why. For this reason we look for a continued immigration of people who have long had their eyes on this section.

"Property values are to a great extent proven, and investors who previously have put their savings into unproven properties have been able to take out large profits because of their faith. However, many of those investors are seeking strictly income producing investments. The mortgage and bond field furnishes the best and most readily marketable securities for the conservative investor.

"The incorporators of this company have for some time been convinced that there is a need in Glendale and adjacent territory for a service organization of this character. Service is our only justification for existence as an integral part of the business life of the community, and we cannot emphasize too strongly this fact, that progress is the result of systematic saving and investment alone and not to a continued flirtation with 'wild cat' stocks.

"We ask for the good will and co-operation of our many friends in this new undertaking, and feel sure we will have them."

TO DESTROY WEEDS

Chemical solutions have been found the most efficient in ridding railroad tracks and roadbeds of weeds, the work costing the railroads of the United States about $50,000,000 a year.

Lee Shannon Chosen Sophomore President

Sophomores yesterday held a class meeting at Glendale Union High school. Lee Shannon was elected president of the class of 1925.

Election returns were as follows: President, Lee Shannon, 168; Richard Ryan, 92; vice-president, Jack Finch, 144; Miss Katherine Bender, 119; secretary, Miss Dorothy Godar, 98; Miss Lucile Beach, 89; Miss Vivian Nay, 7; treasurer, Robert Hatch, 132; Richardson Jones, 129.

Class teachers honored were Miss Mabel Murphy of the commercial department and Miss Bosie L. Field of the history department.

Freshmen will elect officers today or tomorrow and juniors will elect officers tomorrow noon.

Harding Points Out Bankers' Opportunity

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—America's appreciation of the constructive service of her financial institutions were voiced by President Harding today in a message to the American Bankers' association, now in session in this city. The president emphasized the opportunity that bankers have had in the critical days since the war in assisting the progress of the country.

Mr. Harding regretted that he was unable to come to New York to attend the convention.

VACUUM CLEANER
Mounted on wheels to make it easily transportable, a new vacuum cleaner is claimed to be powerful enough to thoroughly cleanse the heaviest of floor coverings.

FOR SURGERY SERVICE
Funds have been collected from which a prize of $2500 will be awarded in London every three years in recognition of distinguished contributions to the science of surgery.

EXPLOIT PETROLEUM
There are eighteen companies, domestic and foreign, investigating or exploiting Argentine petroleum fields, which produced more than 1,000,000 barrels of oil the first six months of this year.

EDGAR BOSS WEDS LOS ANGELES GIRL

Single Ring Ceremony Takes Place at Home of Bride's Parents Last Night

The wedding of F. Edgar Boss, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Boss of 221 West Dryden street, and Miss Mabel A. Stearns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Stearns of 962 Kensington drive, Los Angeles, took place last night, Tuesday, October 3, 1922, at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. W. E. Edmonds of Glendale officiated at the single ring ceremony.

The bride's home had been decorated for the occasion with a profusion of pink asters, dahlias and ferns. An attractive wedding gown of white silk canton crepe was worn by the bride, who carried a beautiful shower bouquet of roses and lilies of the valley. She was given in marriage by her father.

Honeymoon by Auto
The wedding ceremony was witnessed by a group of thirty-five relatives and intimate friends of the young couple.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. F. Edgar Boss left by automobile on a two weeks' honeymoon trip to San Francisco. On their return they will be at home at 221 West Dryden street. Mr. Boss has been a resident of Glendale for twelve years and is a graduate of Burbank high school. At the present time he is employed with the Taylor Milling company of Los Angeles.

DROP OVER CLIFF IN AUTO, WORD TO NEIGHBOR

Eagle Rock Family Sends Word of Accident on Ridge Route

Crashing through the guard fence and plunging over a steep cliff on the scenic Ridge route in an automobile occupied by himself and wife, and his cousin and his wife, was the terrible experience of W. F. Farris of 644 East Colorado boulevard, Eagle Rock, who left the city Saturday morning with his relatives on a pleasure trip to Bakersfield.

These facts are gathered from a telegram just received by Mrs. Farris, a neighbor, and the information that the entire party with the exception of himself are now in a hospital, and expected to recover is all that is known. It is presumed that Mr. Farris was the only one to escape serious injury in the accident.

Mr. Farris is well known in Eagle Rock, having recently completed "Farris Court," an attractive bungalow court on Colorado boulevard at the east end of the city.

Permit Taken Out for New Residence

The Eagle Rock building department issued a permit Tuesday to Ralph W. Bolton of 422 East Harvard drive, Glendale, to build a six-room residence at 162 South Ellis avenue, Eagle Rock. W. S. Caldwell is named as architect, and in addition to the dwelling there is to be a garage. The estimated cost is given as $4,000.

PLAN CLUB DANCE
 An early autumn dance is to be given Saturday night at the Eagle Rock club house by members of the Slicker club, who are former members of the Glendale High school student body.

It will be an exclusive affair, in that only those holding invitations will be admitted to the club house. There are twenty-four members of the club, some of whom are away at college.

CALL BOX SYSTEM NOW INSTALLED AT EAGLE ROCK

Explanation Given of How It Works; Checks Up on Night Officers

Claude Bramble, city marshal of Eagle Rock, spent yesterday afternoon installing the new call box system that is to be used by the night police.

The system consists of twelve different call boxes to be installed at convenient points throughout the city. The call boxes are made of steel and are about six inches long, two inches wide and two inches deep. There is a lock in each box, and the box contains nothing but a large key attached to the box by a steel chain, that bears a number from one to twelve.

The night officer in making his rounds carries the clock which is about the size of a large, ordinary alarm clock strapped to his belt.

How System Works
 When he reaches one of the call boxes on his rounds, he takes a key from his pocket and opens the call box, takes the key that is attached to the end of a chain in the call box and inserts that key in the clock that he carries, and in so doing, the clock automatically stamps the time the key was inserted and also the number of the key. He then returns the big key to the call box, locks it and walks to the next box, and again goes through the same process.

The next morning he turns the stamped cardboard dial in the clock over to his chief, which shows he made his rounds and also the time that he made them, and the dial proves it.

It is claimed that this is the best call box system on the market.

JOIN TEAM, WORD GIVEN STUDENTS

New Wilson Avenue Athletic Association Holds Its First Meeting

"Join the Wilson Avenue Athletic association," was the slogan of the first meeting of that organization, which took place at the school Tuesday.

Jack Booker, president of the athletic association, was chairman of the meeting, and in a short straight-to-the-point talk urged his schoolmates to back the organization as it backs the teams of the school and provides the extra equipment for the pleasure of the students.

"Every boy and girl should join the organization and also go out for the teams. Playing on a team helps to make a fair, square, manly character and does you more good than just winning a letter. Our teams stand for clean athletics and fair play and that is the kind of fellows we want to come out for them."

Speaks On the Organization
 A. T. Blanford, supervisor of physical education, spoke at length on the good the organization has done the school in past years and what it may accomplish this year with the backing of the students and their friends. He also outlined the rules for the coming election when the officers for the winter term will be chosen.

Much enthusiasm is in the air at Wilson Avenue Intermediate in the contest opening today for 100 cent enrollment in the athletic association. The first class to turn in their funds to the vice-principal, Mr. Morrill, will be awarded first place.

FAIR WARNING
 She—"You don't mind my talking so much do you?"
 He—"No, indeed, but (facetiously) I may mind after we are married."
 She—"Oh, I shan't mind your minding then."

Today's World News In Brief

By International News Service Leased Wire

 discovered today. According to the plans, the fascisti at the forthcoming celebration of Italy over the defeat of Austria were to mobilize in this city, seize all public buildings, dissolve parliament, call a general election and summon the king to form a new cabinet with nationalist aspirations.

WALL STREET ODDS ON SERIES 13 TO 10 ON YANKS
 NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—Down in Wall street the odds on the world series have gone to 13 to 10 on the Yanks. Few large bets have been recorded, the only exceptions being a wager of $3500 to $2500 and another of $2200 to $2000. Both were placed with W. L. Darnell & Co. For today's game the Yanks were six to five favorites in the few bets recorded. One offer of four to one that Babe Ruth would not make a home run in the first game went without takers.

OFFERS AMNESTY TO ALL IRISH REBELS WHO QUIT
 DUBLIN, Oct. 4.—The Irish provisional government today issued a proclamation granting amnesty to all rebels who lay down their arms by October 15. It is believed that this offer will make serious inroads in Eamonn de Valera's irregular forces, but it is unlikely that the leaders will surrender. By a vote of fifty to seven, the dail eireann defeated the constitutional amendment evading oath of allegiance to King George by Irishmen.

FURTHERING PLANS FOR ARMISTICE IN NEAR EAST
 CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 4.—Progress is being made towards the ground work for an armistice in the near east, according to word from Mudania today. Only a preliminary meeting was held Tuesday but since then the delegates have had an opportunity to talk informally. Obstacles are feared from the attitude of Colonel Plastiras, of the Greek army, who has been instructed by the provisional government at Athens to object to any proposals calling for the withdrawal of Greek troops from Thrace.

J.G. HUNTLEY BACK FROM LONG TRIP

Glendale Man Returns After Twelve Weeks' Trip to East and Canada

J. G. Huntley of 1434 Highland avenue has returned from a twelve weeks' tour of Canada, the Great Lake region and the eastern states. He was accompanied on the trip east by Mrs. Huntley and their daughter Virginia, who are remaining at Syracuse, N. Y., for a visit with Mrs. Huntley's mother.

A large part of the trip was made by boat. They first visited western Canada, stopping at many points of interest, including Victoria, Vancouver, and Lake Louise, Chicago, Illinois, Lake Champlain, Lake George, Toronto and Buffalo, N. Y. Mr. Huntley was formerly in business in Buffalo and they visited in that city for about a week. While in Chicago they met Dr. H. R. Harrower of Glendale.

Visit Atlantic City
 From Buffalo, Mr. and Mrs. Huntley and daughter went to Atlantic City and Washington, D. C., where they met Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Todd and enjoyed a visit with them. After touring eastern Pennsylvania and stopping at Philadelphia they went to New York City and spent five days there.

While in New York they met Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Smith of Glendale, who are now en route to California by way of Canada and expect to arrive some time this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Huntley and daughter then left for Northern New York and Syracuse, where Mrs. Huntley and Virginia will remain until October 16, when they will go to Washington, D. C., and down to Florida and New Orleans.

They will return to Glendale about the first of November.

In discussing business conditions generally throughout the east, Mr. Huntley says: "The business people are very optimistic and feel much encouraged with the outlook. They feel that after such a very poor year just past that business conditions are improving nicely."

At Montreal, Can., Mr. Huntley states that the weather was already so cold that it was necessary to wear overcoats, while at Buffalo, N. Y., it was quite pleasant. However, while at Syracuse, N. Y., the cold weather caused some ice, he states. Although he had a very pleasant trip, Mr. Huntley says that Glendale looks good and he is very glad to be back.

AUTO LOSES RACE WITH MR. STORK

Thrilling Dash to Hospital Halts and Miss Elizabeth Hofseth Arrives

An innovation was introduced into the general scheme of things yesterday morning by Grandfather Stork who, evidently bored with his stereotyped visits to hospitals and homes, decided on giving Glendale a real thrill with Mr. and Mrs. John Hofseth of San Fernando road as his victims.

They say it was just about 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning when the Stork paused on the top of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital to give Glendale possibilities for October 3, 1922, the official once-over. As he blinked his eyes in the morning sunlight he saw a Ford touring car traveling from the direction of San Fernando road at thirty-five or more miles an hour, its occupants being Mr. and Mrs. John Hofseth and their driver, H. R. Cunningham.

Car Hurries Ahead
 Suddenly the old bird realized that he had had an appointment with the Hofseths that very morning and, raising his wings and folding his long legs under him he winged his way to meet the speeding automobile.

But, before he could say, "Good Morning," the little black car whizzed by him, the driver perspiring, his Ford road ahead and also watching for the approach of some traffic cop, while Mr. and Mrs. Hofseth were urging him to drive faster so that they wouldn't be late for their appointment with the Stork at the hospital.

But the Stork was left behind in a cloud of dust and as he gasped for breath and struggled into the hospital grounds shortly after the arrival of the Ford and its occupants he found that Miss Elizabeth Hofseth, 8½ pounds, had joined the motor party en route to the hospital.

When interviewed at the hospital this morning little Miss Hofseth said that she had been named Elizabeth for Mrs. Elizabeth Ford, wife of Henry Ford, and modestly added that the Ford car is her favorite make of motor car and motoring is the king of outdoor sports.

TRACTOR WHEELS
 Rubber blocks to be attached to the wheels of tractors to permit them to be driven over roads from which they ordinarily would be barred are an Italian invention.

DAHLIA SHOW BIG EVENT FOR CITY OF EAGLE ROCK

News Publishes Letters of Praise for Event From Prominent Residents

The News has been requested to publish the following letters:

"Eagle Rock City is joining those other progressive communities that not only possess something typical of their respective localities, but delight in impressing the fact on the rest of the world. Eagle Rock City is making her formal bow as the 'Dahlia City' and is celebrating the inauguration of the event with a Dahlia show to be held Thursday afternoon and evening at the Woman's club house on Colorado boulevard.

"To the women of the Twentieth Century club may be attributed the responsibility and praise for the conception of the plan and its ambitious consummation. As this is the first 'dahlia day' it behooves all Eagle Rock residents to lend willing aid to make the day memorable and the Dahlia show a success.

"SHERRILL B. OSBORNE, President Board of Trustees City of Eagle Rock."

"It's my opinion that the Dahlia show should be encouraged, not only because the flower is the emblem of our city, but such a movement tends to unite the people of this valley toward beautifying and advertising the city."

"O. J. ROOT, President of Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce."

"In promoting the Dahlia show the Twentieth Century club hopes to have it do for Eagle Rock what the New Year's flower parade has done for Pasadena—advertise it far and wide.

"MRS. M. T. LEE, President Twentieth Century Club."

"Any movement which brings the people of a city into a closer relationship is to be commended. 'A' movement which does this and more is the Dahlia show. It embodies civic pride, local enterprise, and an appeal to the finer sensibilities.

"The Eagle Rock schools will back the Dahlia show to the limit."

E. E. HARWOOD, Supt. Eagle Rock Schools."

Entertainment to Aid Monte Vista Home

A number of the members of the Glendale committee for the Monte Vista Home for Undernourished children, of which Mrs. R. W. Meeker is chairman, are planning to attend the entertainment to be given at "Twin Pines," Sunland, on Tuesday night, October 10.

The program for the evening includes James Chatham, baritone; Miss Catherine Snider, contralto, of the Mission Play. There will also be an orchestra to furnish music for dancing. This entertainment is open to the public, and the novel admission fee is a minimum of one quart of fruit or jam, all of which will be made a contribution to Monte Vista Home.

The T. D. & L.

Wally Reid in "The Ghost Breaker," now showing at the T. D. & L. theatre, has made one of the hits of his film career, according to Glendaleans who have seen the picture.

Manager Ralph Allan says of the picture, "For real joy, entertainment and mirth, it cops the first prize and sends everyone home with a feeling of great pleasure in their hearts. It just lifts you up and then sets you down and you laugh until your sides hurt, and still you laugh some more."

"You can't beat this. Take 'The Ghost Breaker' in at the T. D. & L. and you'll talk about it for a week."

The Glendale

The combination of a Ralph Connor story and the great out of doors of the Canadian Northwest have combined in "Cameron of the Royal Mounted," now being shown at the Glendale theatre, in one of the most successful pictures ever filmed in that vast country.

Ralph Connor knows the Canadian country and knows how to write about it and whether one knows his stories or not "Cameron of the Royal Mounted" holds a real interest.

In the filming of the story only seven actors appeared, with Gaston Glass, Irving Cummings and Vivian Osborne in the leads. "Other parts were taken by natives and by members of a squadron of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police."
